

FRONT OFFICE DEVELOPER – PRIVATE BANKING

- Front Office Developer
- Web & Trading application experience
- Quantitative Portfolio Management

Our client is a prestigious Private Bank. They are currently looking for a Front Office Application Developer to join their Investment & Advisory team in Hong Kong.

To work closely with the Quantitative Portfolio Manager, you will be developing systematic tools for Front office and contribute to the enhancement of quantitative framework and optimize data flows and reporting process to ensure the delivery of production.

To be considered, you must have a master's degree in computer science from reputable university with solid development and design experience. You should have strong experience in web applications with good understanding of HTML, CSS, JavaScript and frameworks etc. You should also have hands-on database management and data model experience. Good knowledge of programming languages such as Python would be a plus. You should have good command of English in both verbal and written communication.

To apply for this job

Contact: Chloe quoting job ref: VSA-1431

APPLY NOW